Étape 2 - Set output parameters for VLC

When all files are added to AudFree, you can navigate to the top menu bar. Choose the 'Preference' -> 'Converter' button to open the setting window. In the new window, you can personalize output audio quality by changing the bit rate, sample rate. To make Spotify and VLC compatible, please define the output format as MP3, FLAC.

Étape 3 - Locally download Spotify music

Now, please simply hit on the 'Convert button at the bottom-right corner of the main screen. AudFree software will start to convert Spotify tracks to common audio files. When the conversion is done, you can locate local Spotify songs on the destination folder. They are ready to stream to VLC media player for playback.

Étape 4 - Play downloaded Spotify music on VLC

It's time to import Spotify playlists to VLC Media Player for offline playback on all devices. Launch VLC on your computer, and then touch the Open File or Open Folder button. It will allow you to browse the files on your computer. You can select the folder including converted Spotify tracks and stream them to VLC. After syncing, you can tap your favorite music and play Spotify through VLC.
